Commentary

The MSCI AC Asia ex Japan Index retreated 1.5% during March. Korea (+2.5%) and Taiwan (+1.3%) outperformed while Indonesia (-7.1%) and the Philippines (-6.0%) underperformed. By sector, Utilities (+3.2%) and Consumer Staples (+0.7%) held steady while Consumer Discretionary (-4.1%) and Financials (-2.8%) underperformed.

The portfolio faced a challenging month with recent high flier Finetex falling sharply and then being suspended due to auditing issues. Since the month end, the investment has been written down to zero in anticipation of bad news. Ayala Corporation and Tencent declined after placements while Minth was severely punished after posting slightly light final results. Minth has been held in the portfolio since listing in 2005. It has been a solid performer over the past 12 years and we remain very confident in the longer-term outlook. Minth's order book at year end was Rmb92bn – over eight times reported 2017 revenues. Following the recent share price decline the stock trades on a low double-digit earnings multiple.

Asian markets ended the first quarter virtually unchanged and, with economic momentum and growth prospects remaining encouraging, we remain broadly optimistic despite rising US short term rates and the more vocal tariff chatter.
